6   from all or substantially all internet endpoints, including any capabilities that are incidental to 7   and enable the operation of the communications service provided by a wireline, fixed wireless or 8   satellite service provider, but shall not include dial-up service.

9           b) Every person, business, corporation, or their agents providing or seeking to provide 10   wireline, fixed wireless or satellite broadband service in the commonwealth shall, no later than 11   sixty days after the effective date of this section, offer high speed broadband service to low-

9. Free or reduced-priced lunch through the National School Lunch Program; or

(ii) whose annual gross household income is not in excess of two hundred percent of the federal poverty guidelines as updated periodically in the Federal Register by the United States Department of Health and Human Services under the authority of 42 U.S.C. § 9902(2).

c) Such low-income broadband service shall provide a minimum download speed equal to the greater of one hundred megabits per second download speed or the download speed of the provider's existing low-income broadband service sold to customers in the state subject to exceptions adopted by the department of telecommunications and cable where such download speed is not reasonably practicable.

d) Broadband service for low-income consumers, as set forth in this section, shall be provided at a cost of no more than fifteen dollars per month, inclusive of any recurring taxes and fees such as recurring rental fees for service provider equipment required to obtain broadband service and usage fees. Broadband service providers shall allow low-income broadband service subscribers to purchase standalone or bundled cable and/or phone services separately. Broadband service providers may, once every five years, and after thirty days' notice to its customers and the department of public service, increase the price of this service by the lesser of the most recent change in the consumer price index or a maximum of two percent per year of the price for such service.

55 broadband service in Massachusetts shall make all commercially reasonable efforts to promote 56 and advertise the availability of broadband service for low-income consumers including, but not 57 limited to, the prominent display of, and enrollment procedures for, such service on its website 58 and in any written and commercial promotional materials developed to inform consumers who 59 may be eligible for service pursuant to this section.

71 g) The department of telecommunications and cable shall, within two years of the 72 effective date of this section and at least every five years thereafter, undertake a proceeding to 73 determine if the minimum broadband download speed in this section should be increased to the 74 federal communications commission's benchmark broadband download speed, or to another 75 minimum broadband download speed if the federal communications commission has not 76 increased its benchmark by such date. The department of telecommunications and cable shall also: (a) undertake appropriate measures to inform the public about available broadband products, including retail rate product offerings and low-income offerings; and (b) periodically, but no less than once every five years, review eligibility requirements for the low-income service required pursuant to this section, and update such requirements as may be necessary to meet the needs of consumers.

h) Whenever there shall be a violation of this section, an application may be made by the attorney general in the name of the people of the commonwealth to a court or justice having jurisdiction by a special proceeding to issue an injunction, and upon notice to the defendant of not less than five days, to enjoin and restrain the continuance of such violation; and if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court or justice that the defendant has, in fact, violated this section, an injunction may be issued by the court or justice, enjoining and restraining any further violations, without requiring proof that any person has, in fact, been injured or damaged thereby. In any such proceeding, the court may make allowances to the attorney general as provided in section five of chapter twelve of civil actions and direct restitution.
